

WANTED BY SLATS & SLIM

Here she is.

J. C. Mohler, secretary of the state board of agriculture, gets the handsome lithograph of a kitchen cabinet, offered by this department for a photograph of President Wilson's fiancée, taken at the age of six months in a wash bowl in the clothes she was born in. Technically Mr. Mohler is not entitled to the prize, for his photo depicts the subsequent Mrs. Galt and the more subsequently Mrs. Wilson, on a pillow instead of in a wash bowl. But this department does not stand on technicalities. We hope President Wilson is not jealous, and we ask no questions as to how Mr. Mohler came into possession of this picture of the leading lady of the land.

We use the word leading advisedly. Too much censure has been heaped upon the president. He couldn't have done it all by himself and unaided.

It is probable that the six prisoners who crawled through the tin prison of the state penitentiary took that way to liberty because they had nothing of political importance to tell the governor.

Does anybody know what has become of Al Jennings?

One of the husbands of Topeka's fast set felt that he was acquiring a cold and by way of applying the well known ounce betook himself to the white enameled medicine chest on the bathroom wall and procured the bottle of the remedy which is put up in a certain short grass town made famous by Charlie Harger.

It so happened that the bottle only contained the one dose, so the empty was placed in the waste basket beside the refrigerator, where all good empties go.

The next morning the young hopeful of said family while nosing about espied the empty bottle and holding it aloft like the statue of Liberty proclaimed, "Mother, who was over last night?"

As the young lady, picking her small brother out from behind the davenport, said to the young man, "It's the little things in life that tell."

A certain charming and beautiful young married woman still in her twenties, had for a guest her 16-year-old niece, "Aunt Elizabeth," said the s. y. o. "I certainly wish I could have seen you when you were a girl."

Quick and efficient work on the part of the pulmotor prevented a total loss.

This uncertain weather leaves a man undecided to tell his wife whether he is going fishing or duck hunting.

The worst copy a newspaper receives comes from the ministers in the form of church announcements. The best received this week, excepting that prepared for this column, came from the Topeka Institute and was written by a colored man.

Poultry fanciers are now figuring what their profits will have been had their chickens been turkeys.

Our ideas of h— on earth is to be a commander of a submarine and to have to go on record in an official report, saying we were responsible for the deaths of a lot of women and children.

We suggest as a method of cheering up the soldiers in the trenches, that they each be furnished a copy of the report of the Chicago vice commission. They should be mighty glad they are not $3 a week department store girls in Chicago.

We classify as economic waste and lost motion the time and effort expended by the State Teachers' association in passing the resolution for the benefit of the president and congress. However, this act on their part upholds our contention that teachers are getting more like human beings every year.

The Yellow Dog, our Topeka woman's paper, in a recent issue uses quite frequently the word "house." From the content we are led to believe that this same substance is some form of beverage or liquid refreshment. We deduce therefrom that the intention of the well meaning editor of said Yellow Dog was a reference to our erstwhile friend and companion John Barleycorn.

We remember full well the old Hindu proverb, "There is no profit in argument with a woman" and will not project ourselves into one with our old friend Elizabeth, but at the same time as a matter of historical record, not by way of argument, out simply as a matter of record, we want to state right here and now that "house" is spelled with a "z" and not with an "s," and thereon we take our stand.

We would add further that if there is a Hindu proverb as quoted above, we do not know it, but it's a poor band that can't frame his own alibi.

Instruction in wood carving in the public schools has at last been vindicated. A former wood-carving student of Topeka has whittled out a model for an improved water faucet. But a man down in the bottoms went him one better. He had one that flowed beer.

A political office is like an individual. It continues to live after it has served its usefulness. There is the office of police court clerk. It was created by Mayor Coffran because Judge Horton was old and needed help so he could do less and talk more. There was an awful roar when the job was created with its $40 per month salary. Now Bob Yates, young and capable lawyer, is police judge. But the job still lives and the salary has been increased and the duties reduced. It is a safe job and it is no longer under civil service at least not yet.

Hereafter it will be the aim of this column to print each week some amateur, home grown poetry. In order to relieve the minds of our readers, we state here about poetry or not, it is ourselves unless we think that there is nothing turned in which is suitable. Our stuff is of course, always gooey. Remember anyone always gooey.

The rules of this contest are as follows: No prize or premium will be given for the poem not longer than twelve lines. It shall not contain any references to the Belgians.

You will never get it back, so if you have not already committed it to memory, do so now. A very good substitute is to keep a carbon copy. Write plainly in English, better yet use an English speaking typewriter.

Put plenty of postage stamps on the envelope. Remember anyone else you have to put in return postage.

The judges of this poetry will be Slats and Slim, and whether they know anything about poetry or not makes no difference to you. They are running this column and think they can write poetry themselves.

Contributions should be mailed to Slats and Slim, or to Slats, Topeka Daily State Journal.

Sign your full name. If your name is not signed and the poem is good enough to sell, we will sell it and buy shoes for the baby with the money.

TO HAVE INDOOR RANGE

Topeka Rifle Team Will Enter Team in N. A. Contest.

At a meeting of the Topeka branch of the National Rifle association Friday night it was decided to open the indoor range on December 1, and enter a team in the contest of the national association.

On a motion by Mr. Moore, the expense of conducting the indoor range is to be paid from the general fund of the rifle club. Heretofore the indoor range has been conducted independently of the outdoor range, but in entering the national competition contest it must be done by the rifle club and every member is expected to use the indoor range during the winter months.

The range committee composed of Mr. Mason, Col. J. Springfield and Mr. Bell were instructed to locate an indoor range and see that everything will be in readiness by December 1.

Pettit, Moorehouse and Erickson were appointed range judges for Wednesday forenoon, Wednesday afternoon and Saturday afternoon. All official shoots must be made under the supervision of one of the range judges.

The next meeting of the club will be held on Friday night next, November 26, when several important committees are to make their reports.

FAMOUS NEGRO MUSICAL DIRECTOR

Friends of Albert Denton, well known Arkansas City banker, today urged his election as a delegate to the Republican national convention in 1916. Denton is president of the Home National bank of Arkansas City and has been a factor in Third district Republican politics for a number of years.

Third district politicians reckon Denton as one of the strong men of the district. He has never been a candidate for political office, but has always been in the midst of every fight in his district. At the same time he has not been aligned with party factions and his friends believe that his candidacy would be acceptable to both the conservative and radical wings of the party.

Denton is grand receiver for the A. O. U. W. and prominent in fraternal circles of the district and state. Friends of the Arkansas City banker in Topeka today stated that an active fight would be made to send him to the national convention from the Third district.
